

1886, ch. 506.

94. In order to provide money for the punctual payment of the interest on said bonds or certificates, and to create a sinking fund to pay the principal thereof at maturity, the wharf charges authorized to be collected under this sub-title of this article, and such sum as may be annually levied by the county commissioners, to reimburse said town commissioners for the expense of keeping up and repairing the county roads within the limits of said town, are hereby pledged and set apart to be used by said town commissioners in paying the interest regularly, and the balance shall be invested for the purpose of creating a sinking fund to retire said bonds at maturity.

Ibid.

95. The limits of said town shall be defined as beginning at a post on Long Point, on Little Annessex river; thence running eastward across said river to a post on what is known as Hammock Point; thence by a straight line touching the southeast corner of Henry F. Jewell's house, where he now resides, to the new county road running from the high school to Asbury church; thence from said point on said county road by a straight line to a point on the east side of the Eastern Shore railroad, and the north side of the new county road running through the lands of James H. Ward to Mariner's church, where the said railroad and county road intersect each other, and from said intersection by a straight line to the most westerly point of land or marsh projecting into the Little Annessex river, on the west side thereof, near David Marsh's house, northward of the said town of Crisfield; and thence in a straight line to the bounds of said town, set up on Long Point; and thence to the beginning; provided, that the consent of the people be first given by ballot to be taken as judges of election by two justices of the peace of Somerset county, to be appointed by the commissioners of Crisfield, under reasonable regulations to be prescribe by said commissioners; and in case the majority of the people in the territory named above, outside of the present limits of Crisfield, shall vote for annexation, then the limits of said town shall be as above; but until a majority shall so vote, the limits of said town shall be and remain as they now are; and all male citizens of Somerset
